

Recovering From Oak Loss: Little Compton Field Tour

Join USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), Eastern Rhode Island Conservation District, and RIDEM staff to tour a site impacted by oak loss and learn what steps land managers across the state are taking to move forward. You'll learn about federal funding opportunities for your land and have a chance to ask questions specific to your situation.

This tour is free, but please RSVP by visiting easternriconservation.org or calling 401-934-0842. Tours are held rain or shine, and may involve walking off-trail on uneven terrain.
